

Mom and Me Crochet Ponchos

Reading companion • Complete pattern follows

Choose by measurements

Child chests: 22 / 24 / 26 inches. Adult bust groups: 28–36 / 38–46 / 48–62 inches. The adult labels in the PDF skip familiar store sizing, so compare these measurement ranges and panel widths rather than renaming the sizes.

Gauge and construction

Gauge: 10 sc and 11 rows per 4 inches; 6.5 mm starting hook. Work the lower band in back-loop single crochet, then pick up 45 / 49 / 53 / 73 / 81 / 89 body stitches. Make separate front and back panels with alternating sc and dc. Add the collar and side bands afterward.

Body Row 4 endpoint

As in the related child-and-doll construction, the repeat leaves the final stitch implicit. Work the final sc into the final dc so the body stitch count stays unchanged. This is an editorial reading, not a physically sampled correction.

Neck and panel checks

The neck schedule produces shoulder totals of 16 / 18 / 19 / 27 / 30 / 34 stitches, consistent with the printed totals. Check paired shoulder widths and the front/back lengths before joining. Fit the collar with ease rather than stretching it tightly around the opening.

Buttons and care

The side bands are sewn with two buttons each through the layers; the pattern does not make adjustable buttonholes. Secure buttons and ends, then follow the actual yarn care label. Record any gauge or finishing changes separately for each wearer.
